

UK Technical Service Engineer FESA063

This £multi billion worldwide leading company are currently looking for a new Technical Service Engineer to join their successful Automotive Aftermarket Division based at Atherstone in Warwickshire.

Salary:

£27,000 - £40,000

Overall Mission:

To proactively engage with our UK customers, to identify, support and drive the commercialization of innovative solutions in pursuit of accelerated growth for our automotive aftermarket business.

Job Responsibilities:

- To identify and pursue top growth opportunities for our UK and European Automotive Aftermarket business. This Technical Service Engineer will contribute to innovative activity within the laboratory, provide the vital interface with our customer base and deliver winning solutions for unmet customer needs.
- To provide technical leadership in our new product introduction activities.
 - Launch Data packages. Customer Trainer training. Sales Tool Development.
- Technical leadership of aligned growth opportunities:
 - Cooperation with industry stakeholders
 - Contribute to penetration in new key accounts
- Technical support for existing business maintenance activities
 - Key account involvement.
 - Training of current product applications.

Education:

BSc (Hons) in a Physical Science (Materials, Chemistry etc...)

OR

Automotive repair and refinish industry recognized Paint Sprayer qualifications such as NVQ Level 3 or equivalent, and ATA Accredited Senior paint Technician together with formal qualifications which illustrate a good level of numeracy and communication skills.

Experience:

Graduates will ideally have worked for at least two years in a related industry and have experience of one or more of the following technologies: Coated Abrasives, Abrasive Compounds, Polishing Systems, Automotive Refinish paint systems, Masking Systems

Some experience of the automotive repair and refinish industry would also be advantageous.

Car paint sprayers will ideally have extensive industry experience and an awareness of the latest repair technologies.

For all candidates experience of a group trainer role and work in a customer facing role would be helpful.

Person Profile:

Project Management Skills.

Must be able to manage multiple projects and meet agreed timelines.

Must be willing to carry out practical work in both the laboratory and workshop environments.

Must be able to work flexibly and be willing to travel in the UK and Europe.

Current valid driving licence is essential.

Excellent communication skills: Must be able to communicate effectively in a wide range of scenarios from boardroom to body shop customers and work effectively within multi-disciplinary teams.

- To provide solutions for unmet customer needs.
- To provide technical leadership in our new product introduction activities.
 - Launch Data packages. Customer Trainer training. Sales Tool Development.
- Technical leadership of aligned growth opportunities:
 - Cooperation with industry stakeholders
 - Contribute to penetration in new key accounts
- Technical support for existing business maintenance activities
 - Key account involvement.
 - Training of current product applications.